

HAYMOND SUSTAINED

SUPREME COURT DECISION IN DISBARMENT ACTION.

Alleged Implication in an Attempt to Sell to a Newspaper a Murderer's Confession.

NO PROOF AGAINST HAYMOND.

COURT ALSO SAYS THERE WAS NO CRIME INVOLVED.

A Story of Murder—Congressional Council at Portland—Popular Ticket at San Francisco.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The Supreme Court has rendered a decision in the action for disbarment brought by the San Francisco Bar Association against Edgar A. Haymond, who, it was alleged, had attempted in conjunction with B. T. McIntosh, to sell to a newspaper a confession said to have been made by Albert Hoff, the murderer of Mrs. Clute. McIntosh was disbarred, but Haymond carried the case to the Supreme Court, which has sustained his position, holding that if he has a confession he had a right to sell it, equally as much as had a newspaper to publish one if it possessed it.

The court says that there was no proof that Haymond had any connection with the case at issue, and no crime was involved in his action.

FIRE AT KERN CITY.

Seventy-five Thousand Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BAKERSFIELD, July 6.—Kern City was almost destroyed by fire tonight. The flames broke out at 9 o'clock in the California Theater. The buildings in the vicinity, all being of wood, the fire spread rapidly to the east and south. The fire department having no engine could do but little to stay the progress of the flames, which consumed everything before them, and then turned to front street, where the best buildings were situated. Ritzman's two-story lodging-house was ablaze, and the fire was working rapidly toward the central hotel, and the big store of Ardizzi & Olcese, when a steam engine arrived from Bakersfield. Two streams were turned on, and their effect was soon noticeable.

Dynamite was used to blow up small buildings, and this helped to check the progress of the flames. Three and a half blocks in the center of the town were destroyed, including merchandise, furniture and fixtures. The Central Hotel, the Ardizzi & Olcese Block, the Southern Pacific depot and hotel, and the railroad warehouse are all that were saved. The loss is estimated at $75,000. The insurance will probably reach half that amount. The heaviest losses fall on M. Cessat, C. Ritzman, E. Verdier, Max Nunez, J. O'Hara, J. J. Murphy, the Independent, Order of Druids, M. Espitalier and Jean Eyraud.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

Summary of the Conditions Prevailing in California.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The summary of the weather and crop conditions existing in California as compiled by the Weather Bureau is as follows: Only a trace of rain reported for the week, and the fall at Los Angeles June 30. On July 4 in the forenoon a light thunder shower occurred at Los Angeles. The temperature has been slightly above the normal in the interior, and slightly below along the coast except at San Francisco, where it was slightly warmer.

At the end of June a heavy norther prevailed in the Sacramento Valley doing much injury. Half of the standing grain crop was damaged, and more than half of the peaches and plums were shaken from the trees. In some places it is reported that even the leaves were shriveled. The norther was also reported in the San Joaquin Valley, but the effect was less marked. A fair amount of grain was harvested in portions of the Sacramento Valley, and north coast and a small amount in the lower San Joaquin. Vines are doing well, though there is mention of subnormal in some directions.

REPORTS READ.

Turners Select Philadelphia for Their Next Meeting.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The second day of the convention of the North American Turner Union, was devoted to hearing the reports of committees and discussion upon them. Nearly the whole forenoon was taken up with a discussion of the affairs of the Turner Teaching Seminary at Milwaukee. It was decided that no new course should be commenced in the seminary until there are at least six applicants, and the course shall be two years as before. The convention decided to retain the summer course, but all applicants must satisfy the director of their ability as teachers, before they will be admitted.

The Committee on Constitution and Bylaws rendered a long report, which will be discussed. It is expected that there will be a minority report in favor of admitting women to membership. The Committee on Conventions submitted its platform, and recommended that Philadelphia be selected as the convention city for the next session. The recommendation was put to a vote and passed.

Indiana secured the seat of administration for the next two years, defeating the Chicago and Wisconsin districts. The national Turnfest of 1900 will be held in Philadelphia.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The matter of the sale of the Woodbridge canal property coming up before Commissioner Heacock today under instruction of Circuit Judge Morrow, the receiver of the company conditionally bid $25,000, but immediately withdrew the offer. Thereupon E. F. Card started the bidding at $2500. As Judge Morrow had suggested that the property was worth $25,000 at least, the bid of Card could not be considered, and at the suggestion of certain interested parties present the sale was adjourned until 11 a. m. Today, when it is understood, it will be again adjourned until the same time Friday morning. It is anticipated on that day better bids will be made. At any rate, it must be sold by Friday at a figure the court will approve.

A Fight For Life.

An Enemy That Lurks in the Gloomy Shadows of Night, and Deals Death and Destruction From Ambush During the Light of Day.

A Desperate and Almost Hopeless Struggle With an Unseen Foe.

There are many heroes who have never faced the enemy's fire, many a brave man who is struggling for life without the inspiring music of the fife and drum, nor the cheering sight of the dear old flag to keep up his courage; the hope of a possible victory, the words of a comrade to urge him on. We refer to people who are suffering with dyspepsia, indigestion and other stomach trouble. Such unfortunate mortals are not only in great danger but continually in dire distress.

In many instances these sufferers have vainly sought relief without a ray of hope. The English and German Expert Specialists have long been successful in curing all ailments of the digestive organs, two members of their staff having devoted half a lifetime to the study and cure of these dangerous and distressing ailments.

They are thoroughly competent, having had long years of experience in curing dyspepsia and like ailments, and would advise you of the best course to pursue. OFFICE OF THE TIMES.

AT A PREMIUM. It is decidedly significant that the new war loan is already quoted at a premium before the single bond has been issued or even an allotment made. The bonds are generally quoted at 102, and $1,000,000 of them were offered at 102-7-8. The exploit of Sampson's fleet at Santiago will raise the figure to over 103.

THE REVENUE. But for the drain caused by the war, government finances would be in excellent shape. For June the receipts were $33,533,313, and for several months they have averaged $100,000 a day, including Sunday. During the month of June the receipts were $33,533,313, and for several months they have averaged $100,000 a day, including Sunday.

YEAR'S COINAGE. There was added last year to the stock of money in the country, directly by coinage, $72,608,833 or about one-tenth of the human being in the country. There was added by importation in gold and silver coins, $100,000,000 of the stock of money in the country, directly by coinage, $72,608,833 or about one-tenth of the human being in the country.

CANNED-GOODS TRADE. The output of the United States in canned goods including vegetables, fruits, fish and meat, is estimated at 1,500,000,000 cans. For some years the industry has suffered from great depression owing to excessive competition. There has been especially true in canned vegetables and fruits, where small operators in large numbers could not get to a mutual understanding.

CEREAL COFFEE. The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, in its year book for 1897, devotes a chapter to cereal coffee. A table is given showing the steady increase in the use of these goods, which is:

	Pounds sold.	Value.
1884	89,000	$ 6,000
1885	115,000	6,000
1886	111,000	6,000
1887	111,000	6,000
1888	111,000	6,000
1889	111,000	6,000
1890	111,000	6,000
1891	111,000	6,000
1892	111,000	6,000
1893	111,000	6,000
1894	111,000	6,000
1895	111,000	6,000
1896	111,000	6,000

This explains why, in spite of the increase in lightness, there is so little increase in the use of coffee proper, as is made manifest in the following table:

	Pounds sold.	Value.
1884	553,000	$ 50,000
1885	572,000	47,000
1886	566,000	43,000
1887	526,000	54,000
1888	524,000	51,000
1889	578,000	75,000
1890	499,000	78,000
1891	520,000	96,000
1892	524,000	80,000
1893	542,000	77,000
1894	532,000	87,000
1895	556,000	97,000
1896	580,000	91,000

There are many brands of cereal coffee in the market. The processes followed are guarded as profound secrets, the employees in the factories being kept from learning more than one step each in the preparation of the goods. Flavors of different varieties of coffee are closely imitated. The low cost of the goods accounts for the rapid growth of its use.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS. FOR A MATCH PASTE. $100,000. The Belgian Minister at Washington, Count de Lichterweide, makes known a decree by the Belgian Minister of Industries, that his government offers a prize of $100,000 to the inventor of a match paste which shall contain no phosphorus, nor toxic agent.

Competition is open to all, and closes January 1 next. American inventors especially are invited to compete. The conditions prescribed are very precise. The paste must contain no phosphorus, nor poisonous substance, and it must be of such composition that the match may be lighted by friction upon any surface.

It must be possible to manufacture the paste without danger to the workmen, and must not contain any substance of which even the emanation is injurious to the health of the workmen.

The matches must be able to withstand the heat, cold and humidity, and dryness of all climates, and not subject to spontaneous combustion, nor to giving off toxic fumes.

The preference will be given to the paste which is absolutely without any component of even the slightest poisonous character.

Finally it is provided that the matches must be safe to carry in the pocket without ignition, and it must be practicable to transport or store them in ordinary packages, without danger.

HIX THORNBURG, 9 YEARS, ALABAMA HEIGHTS SCHOOL, LONG BEACH.

I am the oldest of four boys. We are Hix, Wayne, Max, and Dwight Thornburg. Our friends call us Hix, Wax, Max, and Tax, and 8, 7, 5 and 3. We like to play war. I am Hix, Wayne is Admiral Dewey, Sampson, Fighting Bob Evans, Hobson, etc. Max is Spain, because he can yell loudest and act most like a monkey. Dwight is Cuba or the Philippines. We have a boat painted red. We named her "Reddy" because she is already to fight if a Spanish ship comes here. We know that we are fighting Spain because she was so cruel to the Cubans, and the blowing up of the Maine touched us all. We are all about the different flags and where they are. I hope we shall soon win, so that not many more will be killed. I think Admiral Dewey a brave man, and Hobson, too. Papa says there are plenty just as brave, if we only knew of them. Mama is making us a war scrap book. She cuts out what she says are principal events, pictures of leading officers, boats, maps where the fighting is, some poetry and cartoons. We boys would like to go to war, but mama says we can help if we are only boys by giving our pennies to the Red Cross Society and the American Boy fund. Mama taught us to love God, bless our brave soldiers and sailors. Give courage and strength for the fight. Sustaining them with the assurance. They battle for Freedom and Right. Help those at home to remember. The dangers our boys bravely face; Be ready to help them in every way. If they fall to fill up the place.

STRANGE HALLUCINATION.

James Mullins Attempts Suicide. Thinking Himself a Spanish Spy. James Mullins, an intermittent drunkard, residing in the Mechanics' House, No. 222 East Second street, attempted suicide in his room in a most persistent manner last evening. He removed from the hallucination that he was a Spanish spy. The prompt finding of his bloody body, and immediate medical attention at the Receiving Hospital by Dr. Hagan, alone saved his life. He is expected to recover, but slowly.

Mullins is a tailor in the employ of a South Spring-street firm, for whom he has worked, excepting when drunk, steadily for three years. But according to his fellow lodgers, he was almost invariably drunk. He practiced his last debauch to three months or more. This has undermined his system and wrecked his mind. He complained of illness, headache, hearing and said that he would try to get admission to the County Hospital; the young man occupying the room adjoining Mullins' says that he heard him asking forgiveness in prayer for being a Spanish spy.

It could not be learned that he had told anyone that he would try to end his life. It is presumed that he made the attempt while temporarily insane. He occupied room 26 in the Mechanics' House—a room about four feet wide and seven feet long. A bed, a chair, and a washstand complete the furniture which crisscrosses the room so that there is scarcely room to stand. On the floor of the room, immediately in front of the chair, was a pool of bloody foot and a half in circumference. It is supposed that Mullins sat in the chair, and after piercing his neck twice with a pen knife, he crawled, size, one stab penetrating the wind pipe, but not severing it, he attempted to heat out his brains with a small water pitcher, and a heavy beer glass. Then he apparently bent his head to the floor and let his blood ooze out. He inflicted ten wounds on his head and face, and blood was visible on everything in the room.

F. P. Armstrong, the clerk of the lodging-house, tried to enter Mullins' room at 7:10 o'clock to see if his lamp needed more oil. The door was already partly open, and in trying to open it further, Armstrong found an obstruction in the attempted suicide body. Mullins lay in the corner of the room behind the door, his face concealed in blood and the water pitcher, which seems to have done most of the work, beside him, spattered with blood.

At the Receiving Hospital Mullins said he had been a Spanish spy, but that the wounds on his face should prove he had not. He intimated at the lodging house said he had never heard Mullins speak contrary to the government of the United States. Mullins is an Englishman about 50 years old, and came to this city four years ago from Manchester, Eng., where he says his home is.

DANGERS TO LABOR.

Social Reform Club Discusses the Annexation Question.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, July 6.—"Americanism and annexation and the dangers to labor from Hawaii and the Philippines," was the subject of discussion at a meeting of the Social Reform Club last night. Edward King represented the side favoring the scheme of annexation, taking as his theme, "Labor's interest in America's World Mission."

The theory that the annexation of Hawaii and the Philippines would result in the importation into this country of coolies and natives of these two groups of islands, who could live on a much lower scale than the American workman, was dismissed by Mr. King with the statement that the working element of both Hawaii and the Philippines were too lazy and far too incompetent to prove at all a menace to active American workmen. On the other hand, he contended America had a God-given mission to perform.

Its own institutions of liberty and self-government, if carried into those benighted countries, would lift them from the quagmire of superstition and present misery. It would make them independent and free, and above all things, it would teach them the blessings of a government that maintained a strict separation of religion and politics, and if American politics, he argued, were not all that some thought it should be, it was because the American people had set themselves a standard far above that adopted by any other nation in the world. "If another country, he said, had a more or less unfavorable record, for which it is trying to make amends at this late hour, whereas, the United States had nothing of that sort to live down, and could begin with a clean score, which would be but little difficulty to maintain unimpaired."

King was followed by Prof. J. A. Hourwich, formerly professor of political economy at the University of Chicago, who spoke from what he called: "An Anti-Imperialistic View."

He declared himself entirely opposed to the extension of conquest or American territory. He said in part: "No good whatever can come from the annexation of foreign territory, the people of which can never be in sympathy with us, or even be our equals. It would load a burden on the government that it would be difficult to shake off, and it would add another set of political problems to the already large number with which we are wrestling at present."

AN ILLEGAL STRIKE.

Chicago Stereotypers Find Themselves Renounced All 'Round.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, July 6.—President Prescott of the International Typographical Union, who came from Indianapolis to make an investigation, decided that the strike of the stereotypers employed on the Chicago newspapers was illegal and that they should have adhered to their contracts. As the Stereotypers' Union is subordinate to the Typographical Union, this decision opened the way for the newspapers to resume publication. Accordingly all of the morning papers were issued today, but reduced in size to only four pages. The stereotypers' plates having been made by non-union men. The afternoon papers also appeared in the same form, having engaged new men. Tomorrow the size of all papers will be doubled, and it is expected by Friday the usual number of pages can be gotten out.

As the newspaper publishers have agreed not to have anything to do with the Stereotypers' Union hereafter, the men who struck last Friday night will have difficulty in finding work in Chicago, as many non-union stereotypers from other cities have come out, and more are said to be on their way.

NOTICE.

The exhibition of cooking by gas at our new Gas Appliance Department, No. 420 South Broadway, heretofore advertised for 1:30 o'clock on Saturday, July 3, will be given at 2 o'clock p. m. of that day, when Reynolds, the caterer, will give a practical demonstration of the advantages of cooking by gas. Los Angeles Lighting Company.

Royal Baking Powder costs a little more at first, though it goes further in the end, as it is stronger. But Royal is beyond all question as to wholesomeness, while as to other powders there is a doubt.

Royal is a cream of tartar powder. So many of the other powders are made from alum. Cream of tartar comes from grapes, and costs to produce much more than alum, which is a mineral that the British Government regards as a poison and forbids to be used in bread.

The Royal powder costs only a fair price per pound, and is cheaper and better at its price than any similar article in the world. It makes better and more healthful food.

The London Spectator, extolling the feat of Lieutenant Hobson in sinking the Merrimac, says:

"The exploit is of itself sufficient to indicate the certain result of the war. You cannot beat a nation whose officers and men are equally ready to perish in a forlorn hope if only it may advance a national object."

their line, and they carry themselves with such brilliant dash and desperate valor as to win plaudits from even the enemy. We're sure to win. How do we do it will be history—a and history that will be nowhere so well recorded as in THE TIMES SUPERB PHOTOGRAPHIC MILITARY AND NAVAL SERIES.

PEARSON'S WAR PICTURES

FIRST—Large fine photographs of all the leaders on land and sea, and of every soldier and sailor who distinguishes himself in the war. A magnificent portrait gallery.

SECOND—Photographs of our troops, Naval and Military, as they appear departing for the front, in camp, drilling, marching etc. (Some of these views are nearly 2 feet in length.)

THIRD—Photographs of places made famous by the War, such as Havana, Matanzas, Cienfuegos, San Juan, Santiago, Acapulco, Manila, etc. (It will be a long list of interesting interest.)

FOURTH—Photographs of the people living in these places, people who may one day form part of our colonial population. (Wouldn't you like to know more about them?)

FIFTH—Photographs of battles on land and sea, secured by special artists at the front and from views taken by the official photographers of the U. S. Government for preservation in the archives at Washington. (The history of no other war was ever so brilliantly illustrated.)

SIXTH—Interesting and instructive descriptive text, written by military and naval experts, describing every person, place and event photographed. (The text explains the photographs; the photographs make you remember the text.)
